Late Models Invade Brockville for first time in a decade

BROCKVILLE-Late Models used to be familiar cars on dirt tracks of Eastern Ontario once upon a time. However, the cars just became too expensive to run and priced themselves out of existence as the numbers dwindled and the class faded away. Times have changed and with a crate engine and more visibility on cable television and big money races in the southern United States in particular the wedged warriors of the dirt have started to rebound.

The Ontario DIRT Late Model Series based out of Southwestern Ontario will bring this unique kind of racing back to Brockville Ontario Speedway on Saturday night. A 2,000 dollars to win first prize and 400 dollars to start feature of event will highlight the Saturday night, August 15th racing card at the Beast of the East. In addition to the first visit of the ODLM stars, there will be regular features in the 358 Modified, Sportsman, Street Stock, Rookie and Vintage divisions. The green flag drops at 7pm.
